

Seth's back in the West End - for one night only!

"We laughed so hard we cried, and came away with a sense of adoration for the sheer talent onstage. Should he return, sell your kidney and go" - GT

"A one-man masterclass and/or obsessive trawl through a history of Broadway singing highlights and lowlights. As Seth Rudetsky mercilessly deconstructs the good, the bad, the evil, the mistaken & misguided, wonder & hilarity ensue. Sheer brilliance" - Mark Shenton

After "Ah-MAH-zing" 5 star rave reviews for his West End debut last year, Seth Rudetsky is to return to Leicester Square Theatre for one night only on Sunday 10 August with his hysterically funny one man show, Seth Rudetsky Deconstructing Broadway.

Seth Rudetsky is a self-confessed walking talking Broadway search engine who lives and breathes The Great White Way! A musician, stand-up comic, actor, writer, and radio host, his career includes performing on Broadway, writing three books, penning a weekly Playbill.com column, and playing piano in more than a dozen hit musicals, including Ragtime, Les Misérables, and The Phantom of the Opera.

In Seth Rudetsky Deconstructing Broadway, this multi-talented performer gives an insightful, affectionate and, above all, hysterical take on some of the greatest musical theatre moments of all time using his encyclopedic knowledge of Broadway theatre history and his personal audio and video collection.

Best known to US audiences as the daily Broadway host of Sirius/XM radio, he has also been nominated for a Grammy Award - for his recording of the musical Hair - and was three times nominated for an Emmy Award - for his writing on The Rosie O'Donnell Show as well as winning the title "Funniest Gay Male in New York" for his stand-up comedy.

His critically acclaimed musical Disaster!, which hilariously pays homage to classic disaster movies using 1970's hit songs, is slated to open on Broadway in the 2014-2015 season

Seth Rudetsky Deconstructing Broadway is produced by Mark Cortale in association with Martin Witts for Leicester Square Theatre.

“He is blindingly brilliant. For any musical theatre fan, this is a night of sheer bliss. For anyone else it’s a night of comedy gold”

Fourthwall

“This show is about finding brilliance in the superb, and revelling in the car crashes when they happen. That it ends up being a truly ‘Ah-MAH-zing’ piece of stand-up comedy, and a celebration of musical theatre to boot, is nothing short of brilliant”

Musical Theatre Review

“What’s great about ‘Deconstructing Broadway’ is that it’s appealing to both musical-theatre geeks and novices alike... a genuine and inimitable treat. A hell of a lot of fun!”

Boston Globe

“Lightning delivery, razor-sharp humour and oh-so-sassy wit”

Naples News

“You’ll laugh, you’ll cry, and you’ll cry again from laughing until your sides ache”

Pittsburgh Post Gazette

“His understanding of music and the vocal technique is jaw-dropping in its depth.”
